

How do you Flourish?

Strengthen Stress Management

Sleep

Get enough sleep. Sleep needs vary with age and between people. Most young adults (age 18-25) function at their best between 7-9 hours of sleep.

Exercise

Move daily, for at least 30 minutes! Greatest health benefits are achieved with 5 hours of exercise per week, including 2.5 hours of cardio and strength training 2 times/week.

Healthy Nutrition

Eat healthy. Well-balanced meals include proteins, fruits, and vegetables. If you are uncertain about your meal planning, on-campus registered dietitians can provide personal consultations.

Increase Water and Reduce Toxins

Drink water daily. Monitor your intake of alcohol, drugs, nicotine, caffeine, and sugary drinks.

Social Support

Get social. In the midst of challenges and stress, many isolate and retreat within themselves. It's important to maintain our social support network.

Interests/Hobbies

Get involved. Find at least one interest/hobby you can pursue and look forward to once or twice/week.

Time for Inner Focus

Take time for yourself. Organize your schedule, focus on personal goal-setting, mindful meditation, prayer, or relaxation.

Increase Life Satisfaction

Positive Emotion

Do something daily that elicits a positive emotion:

- *Start a gratitude journal (List 3 things grateful for)
- *Practice savoring your experiences
- *Attend a Mindful Meditation CAPS drop-in group
- *Use a relaxation app daily

Engagement

Get completely absorbed in something weekly:

- *Take a recreation class
- *Pursue a hobby
- *Use your strengths to do something you enjoy

Relationships

Connect regularly with friends, find a community that gives you a sense of belonging:

- *Plan a weekly outing with a friend
- *Join a club or student organization
- *Participate in a CAPS forum or counseling group

Meaning

Participate in something meaningful to you:

- *Volunteer for an important cause
- *Practice spirituality and/or self-reflection
- *Join a group that does meaningful work

Accomplishment

Find something you can work toward achieving:

- *Set a workout goal to break your own record
- *Create academic goals for quizzes, exams, courses
- *Apply for an internship or job

iFlourish: Online Self-Improvement Programs

Self-guided technology programs at your fingertips. Free, confidential, and anonymous online platforms provide evidence-based tools to manage mood, decrease stress, and improve well-being.

Sign up at: caps.ucsd.edu/iFlourish

MindWellU (MWU)

MindWellU delivers evidence-based, multilingual mindfulness e-training that has been shown to lower stress, increase resilience, and improve performance. MWU allows you to take a 30-day Mindfulness Challenge in which you are prompted to take 5-10 minutes per day to engage in a Mindfulness exercise.

Therapist Assisted Online (TAO)

If you are seeking more comprehensive and dedicated intervention, TAO is a highly interactive, web-based program that provides assistance to help overcome anxiety, depression, relationships/communication, and other issues. This program provides detailed evidence-based intervention and interactive exercises/tools to directly address mental health challenges.

WellTrack

WellTrack provides confidential self-guided tools and resources to help manage stress, anxiety and depression. MoodCheck, WellTrack's companion mobile app, is a mindfulness daily mood tracker, which will ask you to record how you are feeling a couple times a day. It will track your moods and activities over time showing you the trends between low and high moods, a critical component to improving overall mental wellness.
